AT SEA EN ROUTE TO SOUTHAMPTON

TIME CHANGE

Please be advised that at midday today the ship's clocks will be SET FORWARD BY ONE HOUR. Please set your watches FORWARD at noon today, Thursday 7 January.

FROM THE NAVIGATOR

Today QUEEN MARY 2 continues along her north-easterly great circle course across the North Atlantic Ocean. This evening we will pass over the Faraday Fracture Zone. The depth beneath the keel will shoal to less than 1,000 metres before deepening again quickly to over 3,500 meters (approximately 1.9 miles) on the opposite side.

SUNRISE AND SUNSET

Sunrise: 7.25am / Sunset: 4.20pm

NAUTICAL FACT OF THE DAY

"Starboard" is the right-hand side of a vessel when looking forward. It's generally accepted to be a corruption of "steer-board", the board or oar which projected into the sea from the starboard quarter of old vessels and by which they were steered before the invention of the hanging rudder. "Port" is the left-hand side when looking forward. The name probably owes its derivation to the fact that the old-fashioned merchant ships had a loading port on their left-hand side, and the later sailing warships also had their entry port on that side.
